A small favor

Fruit salad

There are two "a cup of fresh fruit salad" items in our pantry. One has taste messaging reflecting freshness, but the other has flavor messaging suggesting syrup. It's hard to know which one is which. Can we make the appropriate one "a cup of syrupy fruit salad"?

LOOK for a low stone pub peeks out of one of the drifts

Located in [Icemule, Winterberry Park].

- look pub

The pub is constructed of natural granite rocks fit together snugly, and the cracks are filled with a rough mortar. Snow largely covers the roof, while wavy snowdrifts bank upon the left and right sides. A sign reading, "The Blood Eagle" overhangs a large round door, which is beset by a pair of sizable winterberry bushes. Numerous small round windows are interspaced along the facade. Below, winterberry shrubs in various stages of growth are planted in repurposed wooden beer casks.

LOOK description for windows

Outside

Windows are added in the above description of the pub. We want to make them functional, if possible.

- look windows

The clear leaded glass in the small round windows is divided into four smaller panes by horizontal and vertical cames. In the center where the panes would meet, there is instead a small diamond of stained glass with each window bearing a different color. Each window is surrounded by a sturdy wooden frame embedded in the stone wall.

Inside

[Beacon Hall, Brewpub Taproom] already has Small, round windows in the room description. We want to make them functional.

- look windows

The clear leaded glass in the small round windows is divided into four smaller panes by horizontal and vertical cames. In the center where the panes would meet, there is instead a small diamond of stained glass with each window bearing a different color. Each window is surrounded by a sturdy wooden frame with a copper latching mechanism built in, allowing the windows to be swung open in pleasant weather.

Bi-directional PEERing window activation

We like to activate the above windows as interactive items, with the ability to PEER WINDOW and get the familiar-type espionage both directions between [Icemule, Winterberry Park] and [Beacon Hall, Brewpub Taproom]. ↑

Storage crate at IMT

We would like a public storage container in the [Beacon Hall, Beer Garden], hidden under some blackened stone benches.

New crate design

a row of wooden crates

- look crates

Numerous small wooden crates are crammed under the benches and partly covered in snow. The image of winterberries on the stem is printed on the visible sides of all the crates with tidy Halfling script arching above them. One of the crates is missing its lid. A vellum note is nailed to the side of a sealed crate.

There appears to be something written on it.

- read crates

In the Halfling language, it reads:

Weekly delivery to The Stone Eye.
